Label Workshop

Industry and Agency Perspectives on Registration Workflows

Both product registrants and EPA staff contribute to the product registration process, but we often lack clarity about what happens on either side of a submission. This workshop will focus on the complexities of registrant and EPA workflows and will include a facilitated discussion of common labeling challenges from both industry and Agency perspectives.

This is a working session, and attendees should come ready to participate, seek mutual understanding, and identify opportunities and priorities for solutions.

No RSVP is necessary to attend.
